Made in America, Renaissance plants its feet in Roanoke, Virginia

ROANOKE, VA. – Renaissance Contract Lighting & Furnishings announced today it has chosen to stay in the Roanoke Valley and has purchased a new 45,000 manufacturing facility.

Established in 2003, Renaissance continues to grow its diverse line of lighting products and metal furnishings using state-of-the-art fabrication and the latest powder coat finishing processes. Renaissance is a U.S. based, privately owned company with an international sales force. The company's custom manufactured lighting and metal furniture products are sold and distributed worldwide

"Renaissance is very excited about our new facility and growth in the Roanoke Valley and abroad" said Troy Cook, company president. "In these unique economic times we have found our diverse product line and manufacturing abilities are keys to success", said Cook. Renaissance's primary markets include such customers as Omni, Marriott, Sheraton, Ritz Carlton, and Hilton brands with their lighting and furniture products along with notable municipalities, colleges & universities, U.S. Military, and other applicable commercial venues with their customized Site Furnishings.

"The new facility will help us plant our roots firmly in Roanoke and continue to be a resource to other business' requiring large scale powder coating and fabricating services" added Cook.

Renaissance's products can be seen at numerous local schools, restaurants, hotels, and on the web at www.RCLFinc.com and www.RenaissanceSiteFurnishings.com.
